One Saturday afternoon, Taabu and his friend, Tambiti were playing football in the church compound. The two friends were very excited when they saw other children from the nearby village coming to join them. Askari told them to be very careful as they played. The children said they would be so careful.

Shortly after the Askari's warning, one of the boys missed the ball and kicked his friend's ankle. The friend fell down in great pain. Buyinza who was the oldest of all, carried they boy off the ground and asked Otto to say sorry to his friend Ali who was in great pain.

Otto said sorry and Ali forgave him. Later the children started playing again.

Unfortunately, as the play went on, Taabu kicked the ball and broke the church window. When Askari heard the noise of the glasses falling down, he picked a big stick and went for the boys. On seeing the Askari, the boys took off, but the dog that stays around the church started barking as it ran after them.
